PROPERTY DESCRIPTION

1,515-acre +/- institutional-grade timberland investment located in Walton Co., FL! Productive soils are currently producing hundred of acres of planted pine growth across multiple age classes, all while being located in a stable and valuable wood market. This property is priced to sell at $1,500/acre in order to appeal to the true timberland investor looking to add the unique value of Florida timberland to their portfolio. The price is also reflective that the property is subject to a perpetual Recreational Easement. Contact Agent for more details.

This property is surrounded by a rural residential neighborhood, giving it multiple well-maintained access points for harvesting and managing timber. The land is almost entirely upland and planted in timber, and has highly productive soils for timber growth and production. A well-maintained road system runs throughout the property for timbering activities. Multiple creeks cross the land as well, and high elevations create long sight lines and vistas. The property is located in the region of highest elevations in the state of FL.

Area wood markets are strong, with multiple outlets for wood products, and many options for contractors, loggers, and land management professionals to assist with management activities. This property is already fully planted with commercial-grade pine plantations and is primed to provide its owner with strong timber revenues into the future.

Please give us a call today to discuss this unique asset. Property will be shown strictly by appointment only.
